Human Sounding Boards: A Users Guide to Mentoring Presented by: Andrew Gale and Gloria Yu

Monday 3 September 2012

12.00 pm - 2.00 pm

Actuaries Institute • Level 7, 4 Martin Place • Sydney 2000

It doesn't matter how much experience you have, or what stage or seniority you are in your career, if you have career or personal challenges and aspirations, or want to 'make a difference', you may benefit from a mentoring relationship.

The aims of this session are to:

- Improve your understanding of the concept of mentoring.
- Share real experiences from both a mentor and a mentee perspective.
- Promote the value of mentoring.
- Provide practical advice about beginning a mentor relationship.

The session is designed for anyone who has thought about seeking objective guidance to help them on their journey, irrespective of age or career stage.

Presenters

Andrew Gale

Past President (2005), Inaugural Chair of the Institute's Leadership Committee, mentor, and experienced financial services executive.

Gloria Yu

Director at Deloitte, Graduate of the Institute's Step Up Program, Councillor, Member of Audit & Risk Council Committee, Public Policy Council Committee, Risk Management Practice Committee and Leadership

Council Committee.

Places are limited so registration is essential. • A light lunch will be provided from 12 noon. The presentation will start at 12.30pm.
