

Young Actuaries Program

Part III Exams - the quest for the Holy Grail

Presented by: Mark Nelson, David McNab, Daniel Lavender and Paul Newfield

Wednesday 28 March 2012 • 12.00pm - 2.00 pm
Ernst & Young – Boardroom
8 Exhibition Street • Melbourne VIC 3000

Part III Exams: the final hurdle to achieving Fellowship, the elusive Holy Grail for actuarial students. During this informative, interactive session, experienced past examiners will reveal the knowledge and skills required to help you fulfil your actuarial destiny - exam preparation • exam response structure • common mistakes and how to avoid them • time management skills • concise answers • what examiners look for.

The discussion includes an extensive Q&A session, please note that this will not cover exam content.

Presenters

Mark Nelson is a Principal in Mercer's Retirement Risk and Finance Business. He has nearly 20 years' experience in the superannuation industry, including two and a half years working in New Zealand. He is a member of the Institute's SEBPC

Accounting Sub Committee, and has been a marker for the Global Retirement Income Systems course for a number of years.

David McNab is a Principal at Finity. He has a wide range of experience in general insurance having worked for insurance companies, government authorities, self insured corporations and medical defence organisations both in Australia and the UK for the past 15 years.

David has been a marker for the General Insurance exams.

Daniel Lavender is a consulting actuary for am actuaries. He has over seven years experience in the Australian general insurance industry and has worked with a range of clients including general insurers, self-insurers, accident compensation schemes and government departments. Daniel has been a marker for the General Insurance exams since 2010.

Paul Newfield is a Senior Investment Consultant at Towers Watson. Previously Paul worked with Mercer, where he was involved in numerous senior roles consulting, actuarial and fiduciary roles in Australia and New Zealand. He was previously Chief Examiner for Superannuation.

Places are limited so registration is essential. • A light lunch will be provided.
The presentation starts at 12.30pm.

Register online or via email events@actuaries.asn.au by Tuesday 27 March 2012.

Find out more about Actuaries Institute events at www.actuaries.asn.au